The experiment is again being tried of opening the public litary Sundays from 3 to 6 o'clock p. n. It was tried once before, but in the summer senson. Then it appeared that there was no public demand for keeping it open Sundays, as the parks and drives drew the people. Now that the weather is colder, and people have to get indoors more, it may be more gangrafte used.

The mayor this morning ssued the following order to the chi cas police: I do hereby order and command you to see that our city ordinances and state laws are at once obeyed, and that all violators are immediately prosecuted under the city ordinances and state laws. You must rid our city of vagrants, petty thieves, house robbers and law breakers. I will furnish you detectives and extra policemen if needed.

The farmers are prone to complain that the city folks have ways that are dark and tricks that are not in vain, but the farmers are sometimes not over slow in this line. One of the city merchants bought a large number of eggs the other day of a good, honest old farmer, but it has since been discovered that the greater part of them, which looked so fresh and nice, had been boiled to keep them. Old boiled eggs are not in good demand here, and the merchant found himself with dend stock on his hands—

very dead stock. It seems that the mayor is allowing his insatiable thirst for cheap notoriety to lead him into actions which appear to be very crankish. His recent effusion in a Chicago paper is a sample. It contains a wood-cut of "his honor, which might perhaps be recognized by the Boston cracker medal adorning his breast. Much indig-nation is felt among the best citizens because the mayor lends his aid in pictur-ing this city as in a state of rebellion and lawlessness. Council Bluffs is damaged by such sensational picturings more than can be estimated. The mayor ought to have decency enough to resign. Then, if he wants to portray the city as defying all laws of God and man it would be less harmful. His title of mayor gives him a little influence, which he would not otherwise have. He has no right to use this influence to the damage of the city which unfortunately elected him.

Bold Robbery.

A bold and successful robbery was committed Saturday evening at the residence of Mr. E. W. Ticknor, on Sixth street. Mrs. Ticknor was seated in her private room in the rear part of the louse about 7 o'clock checking up some accounts and crediting some money which she had received that evening from boarders at the house. A light tap was heard at the door and she arose to open it, taking the money in one hand. As she did so a man suddenly sprang inside, snatched the money from her hand, and disappeared as quickly as he had come. She stepped into the next room, gave the alarm to a boarder, and fainted. She was soon restored to consciousness, she was soon restored to consciousness, and was able to give further particulars. She said she had about $60 in her hand when the fellow robbed her. Most of it was gold. Her surprise was such, and the robber was so quick, that she gained no very accurate description of him, mirely noticing that he had a Scotch cappalled pretty well down over his face.

Death of Mrs. Mynster. Mrs. Mynster, wife of the well-known attorney, William A. Myneter, died quite suddenly about So'clock yesterday morning. The event comes with little warning to her friends, few of whom knew even that she was in delicate health. She was feeling quite comfortable, and was up and about, but at an early hour yesterday morning awoke her hus-band and complained of pain. A physi-cian was summoned in haste, but no skill or tenderness availed. She has been a resident of this city since girl-hood, and the sad and sudden event casts a deep gloom over a large circle of friends. Only last week the family moved from their home in the suburbs into a residence on Avenue F, just off of Oakland avenue. Besides the hus-band, she leaves five children. The no-

Details of the Creston Tragedy. A BEE representative on Saturday met a gentleman who does business and resides in Council Bluffs, but who happened to be in Creston on Thursday morning last, when the shooting of Mrs. William F. Morse and her twin sister, Mrs. Susic Gray, by Mrs. Joseph Long took place. He was not far distant and was one of the first to be on the scene of the shooting. man the particulars in the case he re-peated just about the same story as was given in a special dispatch in the Bee on Friday morning lact.

The story he began with, "There were three women living in the house, the two sisters living down stairs, and this Mrs. Long, who did the shooting, up stairs.

"He quietly (that is as the circumstances would allow) withdraw and procured a divorce from this woman, who is now known as Mrs. Long. She left Cres-ton and went to Kansas, and just lately returned to Creston as the wife of a Joseph Long, who is a brakeman on the 'Q.' They procured lodgings in the house with Mr. and Mrs. Morse and Mrs.

"On Thursday morning Long, who had been out on the road the night precame home and had a quarrel with his wife. He then went down stairs and asked Mrs. Morse if she knew if any man had stayed with his wife the night previous. She replied that such was the case and that she, in attempting to pass him in the hall in the darkness, had ran against him. With this Long went up stairs, had another quarrel and then left the house.

Finding Foyer. In his rounds yesterday a BrE man earned that a gentleman in company with Col. Beebe, agent for the American Express company of this city, were looking about town for an ex-agent of the express company named George P. Foyer, who, on November 7, just a week ago, had absconded from Glenege, Ont., with between $8,000 and $10,000 of the company's money.

The BEE representative called on Col. Beebe, but that gentlem in begged to be excused from giving the reporter any news concerning the case as he thought the absconder was either in Council Bluffs or Omaha and the news, if made public, would put the fellow on his guard. So the reporter withdrow, knowing there were numerous other channels from which to gather the coveted item.

The BEE man shortly after learned that the absconding agent, Foyer, was in Omaha last week, and on Saturday went to one of the banks of that city and had $2,000 exchanged, and at another $1,000 exchanged, and Mr. Warner, a detective for the company not being able to find the fellow in Omaha, came over to this city yesterday and hunted the rown for him. George J. Foyer, the absconder, is described as being 36 years of age, sandy beard, five feet eleven inches high, weighing about 200 pounds, and having one thumb slightly deformed, it being somewhat pointed by a felon.

If he is in this vicinity he no doubt will be quickly nabled by the officers, as they are all watching for him.
